TUESDAY MORNING, SEPT. 26.

THE "BRANE JACK" THAT BROKE THE BACK OF THE RESELLION.—The country is familiar with the remarkable success with which our raiding parties destroyed the enemy's communications around Richmond, during the missing parties with the fall of the ties destroyed the enemy's communications around Richmond, during the nine months preceding the fall of the rebellion; but outside of official circles it is not always known to whom the credit of inventing the means of these great achi-vements is due. We think our West Vices of the communication of the credit great achizvements is due. We think our West Virginia readers may feel a commendable pride in knowing that one of the most useful of the engines of war, used for the suppression of the rebellion, was the invention of one of our West Virginiasekiizens. This invention is seen made public by a commendable public by a commendable pride in the result of t has been made public by accident. The following letter, written by the inven-tor to Gen. Grant, giving some account of it, is supposed to have been lost out of Gen. Grant's private papers, as it was picked up by a soldier on one of the battle fields near Richmond;

General Ulisses Grant Respected Friend I here drop you a note to apprise you of a fix I have invented in mind to bend or brake rall road bars Cold or hot with great dispach our great necessity for such a thing gost at this time Causes me to write to you instead of the department the thing is very slimplee a heavy plate of metal some 11 inches square haveing a deep flange or grove on one side so as to fasten it on the top of a stump by a stont key or wedge first dressing the top of the stump to suit the plate haveing two short stantions extending above some six inches a part the bars will be placed between these two stantions near the ends four men at the other end Can enselly bend or break it I think that four men may break I for each minute at least in two a post may be inserted where there is no trees this fix is intended for a more perfect sysem of Railroad distraction invasion in the rear of our armies should be Carried on on a larger scale and the work of distraction more general and more perfect a great source of the idea is I think a good one.

Our readers will remember that the Our readers will remember that the ingenious author of the foregoing letter devoted himself with great zeal during on liberal terms, by T. H. Logan & Co., and Logan, List & Co., solo proprietors, the spring of 1863, to devising means of destroying the rebel iron clad Merrimac, wheeling, West Va. sep15-tf and with considerable success, we infer as he was for some time in communication with the War Department, and we know the rebels were compelled to destroy the Merrimae themselves in order save her from our designs. We beto save her from our designs. We be-lieve this gentleman, during the course of the war, invented several other "fixes," all aimed at the vitals of the rebellion, not the least formidable of which was a twenty-five barrel cannon, which was highly commended at the time by the Fairmont National. We suppose no person in the country, in a private station, felt more zeal in the suppression of the rebellion or labored more constantly or with greater effect than the writer of the foregoing letter. more constantly or with greater effect than the writer of the foregoing letter. But "peace hath her victories no less renowned than war;" and now the war has no more demands on his inven-tive genius, we hope he will not let it rust in inactivity, but will devote it to such labors, in behalf of mankind, as will make his name illustrious as the names of Newton Wett Editor and names of Newton, Watt, Fulton and FALL and WINTER STOCK

MANY persons have been in the habit of mailing their letters on the cars or on the boats, omnibuses, hacks, &c., because it was more convenient to do because it was more convenient to do so than to deposit them in the post office. Sometimes it was especially convenient to do so, after the mails at the post office had been closed. Some weeks ago the postmaster here issued orders to all mail agents and mail carriers, that they should in no instance receive them letters unless them letters. riers, that they should in no instance receive these letters, unless they were enclosed in the regular post office envelope of the proper denomination. The reason for the order is very plain, and it is this: The mall agents and mail carriers have no cancelling apparatus to destroy stamps with, and neither have they rating scales with which to determine the amount of postage that should be paid on a letter; and hence it has often happened that double hence it has often happened that double hence it has often happened that double and treble rate letters were carried for a single rate, and the revenue thus defrauded, and also that the uncancelled stamps have been used again and again by dishonest persons. Yesterday the posturaster received a circular from the department requesting him to give notice that "the penalties fixed by law likeding and Part."
